

Results

Each trait is scored according to the number and the magnitude of related symptoms that are experienced. In general, traits with a higher score should be addressed first.

